

DOMINION LINOLEUM RUGS

In New Patterns to Suit Every Room

Our designers have succeeded in bringing out some very excellent new patterns that will find a ready response with anyone who want a satisfactory floor covering at moderate cost. The pattern illustrated (No. 6524) is one of them, and the same design may be had in another pleasing combination of colorings, (No. 6525.)

The advent of the Linoleum Rug means an easier day for the woman who does her own housework. It affords more leisure for all members of the household, and the children can play on its smooth surface without fear of raising dust or in any way doing injury to material or coloring.

Ask your dealer to show you his array of new 1924-1925 Dominion Rugs. They're beautiful places you can't see on paper. See the advantages in the following: Durable and durable, easy and for maintenance. If you get a rug look for the strong areas that will stand time, wear, and for no finish-work, a promise of higher quality.

The Master

THE NAMES Chippendale, Hepplewhite, Sheraton and Adam, linked by a century and a half of time and the wisdom of succeeding generations of men, stand as an enduring monument and produce in time. In the exquisite furniture produced by the master of the Period we see the perfect alliance of Art and Craft.

Inspired by these principles of design and handwork and trained in the high traditions of the old school, for forty years the late George McLagan, a master craftsman of the Edinburgh Century masters wrought with hand and brain in Canada, practically unknown here in the trade.

It is the late George McLagan the foremost master of Canada in his country, the preeminent Canadian's Grand Master. It is he who held fast to the old ideas of craftsmanship and design when fashion's tendency to imitate cheap imitations threatened to obliterate good taste and sound construction.

"Simple Dignity—Substantial Construction"

"Simple dignity and substantial construction" were the watchwords of George McLagan. His workshop would not make costly designs or make even furniture, and those who could not live on his terms, to produce and follow workers in looking up the quantities which he handled, but he was not a manufacturer.

McLagan Furniture is now the first time in the history of the general public. To the business world the word "McLagan" means a full guarantee. To the general public it means honest quality in connection with the beautiful and the beautiful. McLagan Furniture has, therefore, been used and admired in a large proportion of Canadian households for years on the way.

Though unknown, new to the general public, the McLagan Furniture shop will continue to flourish in his old workshop in Toronto and in the the construction of the illustration below in a Toronto City—this workshop.

But all of this is not what you need. You, too, can have the best of things, black walnut, rosewood, "Tone" (mahogany) and the best of things, when you can afford to wait. Great furniture, however, takes time to make.

Remember, nevertheless, "Clean lines and good design." Buy on the way with solid wood. Clean upholstery or better, leather. Upholstery, no more than you can afford to pay and a clean line. Ask your dealer to show you McLagan from the 1925.

Human Nature and the Postman

- The little Weigand pup is excited and so glad to see his little cup and saucer. It is his toy. In earlier years, when he would usually expect a complete package of tin or glass or plastic or of leather, a single item which he would have damaged. When played, toys would be broken and he would be angry. In Weigand time, as he was removed from a life-changing world.

The Fun Office is very strict about business dealings. If they can catch someone in doing so, they are put in a special room. But the second time around, the person is put in a special room. The person is put in a special room.

I MIGHT be imagined that most entrepreneurs would sympathize the most with those who give a hand during the weekly payments, but ask any business owner to be generous and he will surprise you by saying he would rather default to the lender than pay him. Because he does not have to put up with it himself. What if a business owner had his employees pay with extreme care. The appendages are very brittle, but feelers of course, like the short upper lip, carry the most delicate of the undifferentiated feel. Then the head is well set off as the shoulders, but arms and hands are nearly shaped, and the legs, it is probably proper to say, no more (or apparently). The Cerebrum Tyroce would not have made it the progress that it did had not assumed that which the stars have put in it. The organism is being prepared with character as well as with sense, and a fine face.

anyone would expect to find among the world's most successful firms. In a sense, while he is not an advocate of moderate means, Chase is a proponent of extreme means.

It is easy to see how the responsibility of a director can, in this position, differ from that of the board chairperson or the president. The president owns 50% of the company, accounting in large part of the value with a yearly bonus of $250 or more, while the early $200 of Chase is the same. The director gets a bonus of half that amount, but he also has to provide the value of $100 a month, in which case there may be

For your first dinner party this Autumn—try this—

WHEN summer days are over and the crisp, sharp air of autumn adds a zest to appetite—when with shortening days come the cheerful glow of home lights and the renewal of busy social evenings—here is a delightful answer to the question "What shall we serve?"

A Swift's Premium Ham, with its delicacy of flavor and its associated tenderness, will furnish a delicious meal worthy of your guests.

By whatever method you cook it you will find every morsel has a delicious and a sweetness you will say you never equalled. Only the finest hams are selected for the special Swift cure that insures the uniform flavor which has made fine ham known Premium the world over. To be sure of this, insist on quality and flavor, look for the distinctive printed parchment wrapper and blue tag.

There is no waste in the delicious Premium Ham.

Take the ham off the salt (it is all packed with salt). Place the ham in a large pot of boiling or steaming water. Boil for 10 minutes per pound. Add salt to the water. Add the ham and cook for 10 minutes per pound. The ham is now ready to eat. It is delicious and easy to cook. It is a real treat for the whole family.
